Protest Movement Seen Over Annex

A citizens protest movement is boiling up from the grassroots in the Gene Howe area of the Canyon School District not only to boost active involvement in the election of county school trustees but also to spread information and encourage Amarillo school patrons to seek annexation by the Canyon district, the News learned from several sources this week.

An informal meeting is to be scheduled in the not-too-distant future for dissident parents of Canyon school children who apparently feel threatened by recent action by the Randall County Board of School Trustees to allow a 176-acre development tract to be annexed by the Amarillo school district.

Focal point of the protest movement is apparently centered in the several rural-type development areas in the north portion of the Canyon School District.

One source told The News the movement with its two-prong emphasis is only in its infancy but is based primarily on the feeling that the county school trustee decision of Oct. 22 was not representative of the wishes of the majority of the electorate which the trustees represent.

More than 30 Gene Howe area parents showed up and several spoke against the annexation decision at a public hearing held a week before the trustees called for the detachment of the subdivision and annexation of the property to Amarillo.

News of the protest movement came on the heels this week of two other major developments in the annexation issue.

Appeal Filed

Canyon School District Attorney Elton Cox has filed a notice of appeal with County Judge Woody Pond, ex-officio county school superintendent, and has also sent the appeal to the state commissioner of education in Austin.

Cox said he understands that the commissioner of education will conduct an independent investigation of the annexation decision reached by the county school trustees. That investigation must be begun by law, he said, within 45 days and a public hearing, probably in the Amarillo area, must also be held within 45 days.

Cox said apparently the commissioner is not to be influenced by the decision reached by the trustees, but is to look at all facts in the case.

The attorney said he will certainly present the Canyon School District case, indicating the particular facts which he believes were wrongly considered by the trustees.

One of those facts involves the property description filed along with the petition for detachment and annexation by five families seeking the trustee action.

Cox has contended the description violates state law which requires that any land annexed from one school district by another must have boundaries which are continuous with both districts.

He said he might also argue that if quality of education for children is the over-riding concern for such annexation, that educational quality was abundantly available in the Canyon district.

The motion introduced by Canyon Trustee J.D. Barker for annexation of the acreage by the Amarillo district could also be a point for contention, Cox said, since the motion calls for the Amarillo School District to pay the Canyon district the projected tax revenues for the acreage for the next five years.

The attorney said he's not sure such a requirement can be placed on the Amarillo district under the law.

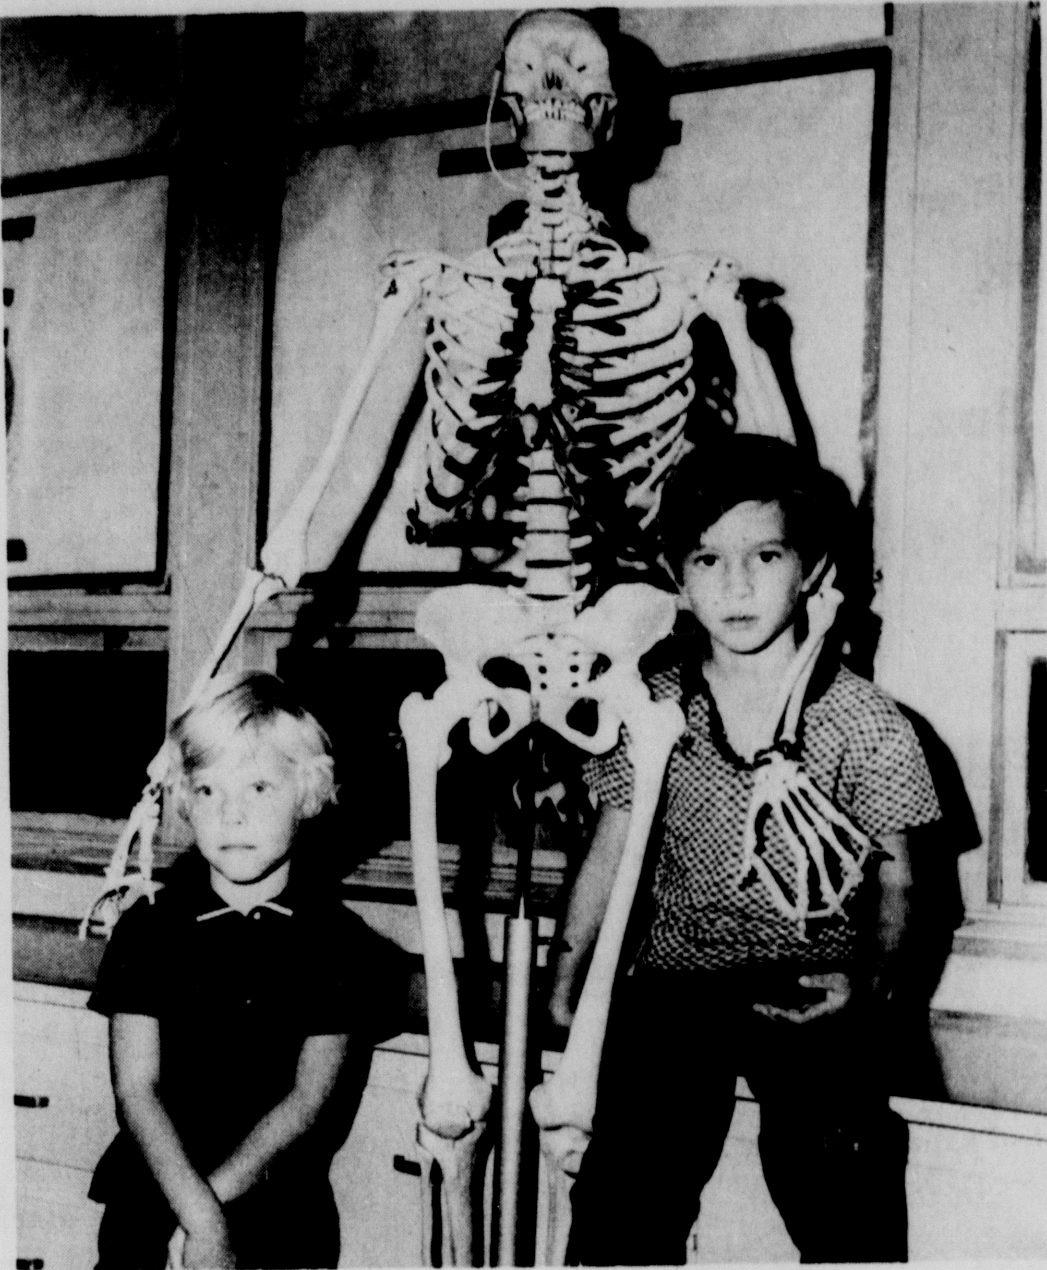

Suit Dismissal Asked

In other action this week, Amarillo Attorney Bob Templeton filed in 47th District Court a motion for dismissal of the suit filed last July against the county school trustees, asking for the ouster of three board members and a judicial ruling on the annexation issue.

Templeton had promised prior to the Oct. 22 decision that if the decision was for annexation, he would dismiss the suit.

Templeton represents James Jensen, David Coldiron, Wilbur Knighton, Jack Sebastian and Ron Fine, all residents of the 176-acre subdivision, in the suit.

Dist. Judge E.E. "Gene" Jordan must now act on the motion for dismissal of the suit.

Laurie Parks, 5, and Monty Moore, 6, found a new but fairly unresponsive friend in their kindergarten class at Rex Reeves Elementary School last week. The skeleton, loaned by the junior high for a pre-Halloween study of bones by the kindergartners, provided a good deal of excitement for the children.

Consumers Are Key To Farmers

In the age of urban politics, the agriculture producer must win over the American consumer if agriculture is to remain a viable industry, the Republican candidate for the post of Texas agriculture commissioner told a small audience here Monday.

Zack Fisher, fighting an uphill battle against entrenched Democrat John C. White, commissioner for 24 years, told a group of predominantly agriculture students on the West Texas State University campus that the agriculture commissioner should involve the consumer in the state's agriculture.

Consumers, he said, simply do not understand the problems faced by agriculture producers. Nor do they altogether understand the tenuous agriculture market.

Because there is a general knowledge gap between farm and consumer, there is also a general knowledge gap in Congress which passes far-reaching legislation concerning farming and agriculture production.

Fisher advocates establishment of a liaison office of the agriculture commissioner in Washington to react with congressmen and consumer groups.

Noting that consumers make up 95 per cent of the voting bloc in this country, Fisher said agriculture must make them understand the farmer's role if he is to also gain their considerable influence in political circles.

Fisher said the Texas agriculture commissioners should also take the lead in helping the state's farmers in finding export markets for their products.

Nevertheless, he noted, it would be far more logical for Texas farmers to try to export more red beef rather than increasing exports in feed grains. The logic lies in the fact that American beef producers can convert grain to useable protein in beef much more efficiently than can other nations in the world.

The candidate said during a recent visit with President Ford he discussed the problem faced by producers of selling products at deflated prices while retailers have not lowered prices on grocery shelves.

Fisher said retailers complain that overhead, primarily in the form of increased labor costs, make it unfeasible to lower prices on grocery products.

The candidate said he is also interested in a plan for water importation into Texas' dry areas based on a kind of depletion allowance.

The crux of the plan involves placing a tax on petroleum products which leave Texas oil and gas fields for use in other states, using that tax revenue to import water into this state.

The plan is only newly conceived and could be a long way from serious consideration, he said.

Fisher, a Memphis farmer and rancher, was formerly an aide to Sen. John Tower and has been active in local politics in Memphis and Hall County.

Sun Energy Being Eyed For Pool

Canyon city commissioners should know by mid-December whether it's feasible to use solar energy to heat the city's swimming pool.

With a go-ahead from City Manager George Louder, two physics students at West Texas State University are now studying calculations to test the feasibility of such a project and should be finished with their study by the end of the current school term.

Dr. Vaughan Nelson, head of the physics department, said Matt Ohmes and Susie Barton

Even County Trustee Precedent Doesn't Alter Need

One Fact Unchanged — City Schools Crowded

Only one hard fact emerges unaltered from the dust of uncertainty raised last week by county school trustee action allowing the Amarillo school district to annex 176 acres of development land in the Canyon district.

That fact is this: Canyon's schools are now bulging at the seams and expansion of facilities is no longer a far-away possibility.

Only the timetable for expansion has been clouded by the trustee decision and the precedent the decision sets a precedent local school board members fear may lead to further developer pleas for annexation by Amarillo.

"Our problem is a timetable as to when we should get real serious about putting the information together on a bond issue and try to push the bond issue for part of the construction," said Supt. Jerry Jacobs.

Future planning is the functional area hardest hit by the trustee decision and right now it's a critical area as far as the development of the Canyon school system is concerned.

Critical because of the current student population in the city's schools.

Jacobs said conditions at three local schools are becoming more crowded each year. The schools are Gene Howe Elementary school, the junior high and the high school.

Gene Howe, for example, was built for a maximum of about 480 students. The school currently houses 550 students and two more portable classrooms are being readied for location at that campus. The junior high was constructed for a capacity of 1000 students and already that school has 910 students. The high school now has 785 students and Jacobs said the school can accommodate comfortably a maximum of about 720 to 750 students.

Every classroom on every Canyon school campus is being utilized, he said.

If the current situation appears overcrowded, it becomes even worse when projected enrollments are tallied based on expected growth of the Canyon area and the area between Canyon and Amarillo.

Jacobs said another projection of future enrollment at the schools will be eyed later in the school year. The school staff must, for example, take into consideration the potential for growth made available through the location of several major industries in the Canyon school district.

The superintendent is not particularly trustful of enrollment predictions.

But, he is even more wary now that the county school trustees have seemingly set the stage for the detachment of further property from Canyon district.

The precedent set by the decision last week adds a Russian roulette aspect to the prediction business, not only because it brings an unknown into the risky business of enrollment prediction and projection, but because it adds to the uneasy burden of predicting finances.

The trustee decision, Jacobs said, will undoubtedly work as a precedent and while the tax value figure on the land annexed last week is not great the potential for a large drain on Canyon tax resources could follow through other annexations.

"As far as a small tract or two, this doesn't have that much impact on finances, but with everything that could be taken in under a similar thing, then it shoots the heck out of your planning," Jacobs said. "Sure, it relieves you of some responsibility, but it could mess up the planning guides and even possibly the location of some schools."

Jacobs said another unknown which makes planning for future school needs hazardous is the potential legislation which may come out of the Texas House and Senate beginning in January.

It is virtually a foregone conclusion that school financing will be a major topic of concern for legislators, but there are few predictions on how they will attempt to solve the school money crunch.

Nevertheless, Jacobs said this week that if growth continues as in the past and if further annexations are averted, it is a good possibility the school board may seriously consider a bond election attempt during the 1975-76 school year.

An Amarillo architectural firm is already working on plans for a new elementary school even though board members have not yet decided on the location for a new grade school structure.

Nitty-gritty planning has not begun yet on the middle school and high school currently planned for construction on a 60-acre tract of land near Hollywood Road.

Price Campaign Over $200,000

Incumbent Congressman Bob Price's campaign coffers were filled to over the $200,000 mark during the final month before next Tuesday's general election.

Price for Congress Committee #2, filing under state law with the Texas secretary of state, listed total contributions to date of $209,230 and expenses for the incumbent's campaign of $206,764.

Contributions for the month reported — from September through October — tallied about $39,000 with the bulk coming from a big barbecue and from several political committees.

A barbecue held for Price on Sept. 29 garnered $37,537 with 1063 individual contributors listed. Largest contribution was from J. Malcolm Shelton, an oil and cattleman in Amarillo, who contributed $750.

Seventeen persons contributed $500 to the Price campaign. They include A. E. Hickman, Pampa oilman; Wallace Locke, Miami rancher; J. W. Gordon, Pampa attorney; E. B. Clark, Wichita Falls oilman; Tom Herrick and Jim Mann, Amarillo cattlemen; Roland S. Bond, Dallas businessman; E. S. F. Brainerd, Canadian rancher; R. P. Webb, Vernon oilman; Frank T. O'Brien, Amarillo oil and cattleman; M. H. W. Richie, Clarendon cattleman; Oofie Abraham, Canadian; W. M. Quackenbush, Amarillo geologist; Kenneth and Sammy Ford of Perryton; F. J. Hess, McLean rancher; E. C.

Sidwell, Pampa oilman; Wright Hale, Spearman businessman; and J. W. Campbell, Pampa rancher.

The committees contributing during the month were the Rice Producers Political Action Committee, $500; Bread Political Action Committee, $500; Republican Women of Hansford County, $100; Committee Organized for the Trading of Cotton, $200; and Americans for Constitutional Action, $250.

Campaign expenditure and contribution statements for the month had not yet reached Austin by pre-statement for Jack Hightower, Price's opponent in the Tuesday election for U. S. Representative.

Nor had statements been filed for other candidates. Only the statement for John Kenehan, who is seeking the office of state representative from this district, has been filed.

Kenehan reports contributions totalling $2926 and expenses of $2976.

Contributions for the reported month total about $2000 with a

Absentee Number Way Down For Tuesday Balloting

Candidate complaints about voter apathy this year are borne out in statistics from the Randall County Clerk's office, which indicate the number of persons voting by absentee ballot is running far below the number who voted in 1970.

County Clerk LeRoy Hutton said as of Tuesday noon only 214 persons had voted absentee in his office. That compares to a total of 907 who voted absentee for the 1970 off-year elections.

Absentee balloting ends at 5 p.m. Friday.

A vote of only 16,000 persons is predicted for Randall County for the Tuesday general election, but Hutton has ordered nearly 30,000 ballots just in case.

In 1970, 14,000 voters turned out to the polls.

Voters will go to the polls Tuesday to pick a U.S. congressman, a Texas governor and numerous state and county-level officials.

Hottest race in the area this year sees incumbent Rep. Bob Price facing State Sen. Jack Hightower in a race for the congress.

Price, who is outspending his Democratic opponent while using several two-year-old television ads, began his campaign for a return to Washington late, choosing to remain in the East to finish up congressional business.

Hightower, who began stumping the vast 13th Congressional District last February, knocked off two primary contenders, Dr. Louis Finney and Ray Ruffin back in May to win his spot opposite Price on the ballot.

During campaigning in Canyon, Price has dealt primarily with foreign policy problems and the defense posture of the United States. He has visited only twice, once in the spring and again last week.

Hightower, who's been in town numerous times since the first of the year, has based his campaign primarily on the economy of the nation and the need for strong leadership in analyzing future problems.

Price won this two-year term in office by downing another Congressman, Graham Purcell, in 1972.

Hightower is a 10-year veteran of the Texas Senate.

A race of lesser interest to local residents, but one which will place a governor in the capitol for a four rather than a two-year term, pitches incumbent Gov. Dolph Briscoe against Lubbock physician Jim Granberry.

Briscoe, a Democrat and a major landowner in South Texas, has not campaigned in Canyon.

Granberry, making his first venture into state level politics under the Republican banner, passed through the city last summer on a GOP caravan.

Three other candidates on the gubernatorial contest ballot are Ramsey Muniz from the Raza Unida Party, Sherry Smith from the Socialist Workers Party and Sam McDonnell from the American Party. McDonnell is the only one of the three to come to Canyon to campaign. During his visit, he attacked regional government and called for a cut-back in federal spending in the state.

Another race which has aroused little voter enthusiasm sees incumbent Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby go against Republican challenger Gaylord Marshall. Both candidates have campaigned in the city. The Socialist Workers Party has a candidate in the Lieutenant governor's race — Dan Fein.

Voters will find they will have the opportunity to cast a ballot for either incumbent Attorney General John Hill or GOP challenger Tom Cole. Pedro Vasquez is a Socialist Workers Party candidate for the office. None of the candidates have campaigned in this area.

While it's apparently a hot race state-wide, little voter interest has been expressed here in the race for the state comptroller's office. Democrat Bob Bullock meets Republican Nick Rowe, a Vietnam era POW, in the race and the SWP has put up Sas Scroggins as their candidate.

A Randall County man, Robert G. Holt, formerly an Amarillo banker, takes on incumbent Jesse James for the office of state treasurer. Holt, a Republican, Government by and large is getting less responsive to the individual as time goes by.

One of Watergate's worst effects will be that the Internal Revenue Service is apt to become more independent than ever before.

IRS already has the tools with which to impoverish and even imprison innocent, productive citizens. Experience in Watergate could very well make this branch of the executive department totally unresponsive to elected representatives of the people. Indeed it seems to need no longer to be very responsive even to the executive branch.

There has been very little campaigning in the congressional race between Bob Price and Jack Hightower. What little there has been has been largely through some poorly conceived commercials on television.

Price is even using posters left over from the 1972 campaign with Graham Purcell. I might add that the posters weren't very good even two years ago.

Hightower's advertising thrust has largely been through two film clips, one taken in an empty feedlot and the other in a grocery store.

The feed lot is, of course empty, and groceries are high. Jack doesn't say what, if anything, he expects to do about this state of affairs.

High point of Bob's speech on the campus here last week was a furtherance of his continuing vendetta with the press.

Come on boys! Give us something we can get our teeth into. If I were running for Congress against either of you, here's some of the things I would be advocating.

1. Bite the bullet and tell the Arabs to go to hell. We'll get along without your gasoline. We'll ration what we've got and make do until we can come up with another source of energy. No more A-rab blackmail.

At the same time I'd tell the oil companies where they could go and start a crash program (like we did in developing the A-Bomb) on development of solar, nuclear and cold steam generated energy.

There is abundant testimony that absolutely clean energy can be supplied through the cold steam turbine process (available since 1930) from the Gulf Stream to supply 180 times the energy presently needed by the US.

2. I'd recommend that we quit trying to police the world. That we trade profitably with the people of the world, advancing friendship wherever possible.

3. Instead of continuing the inflation spiral by government spending I would advocate that this be drastically cut where possible without injury to the national interest.

4. I would advocate a minimum wage tied to production.

5. I would advocate encouragement of farmers by whatever feasible means to increase their production of foodstuff. Their needs in energy and manufactured goods would get first priority.

I would call for a total embargo on shipment of foodstuff to the Arabian oil producers until the price of their crude comes down. We would see how fat the shiek of Arabee could keep himself drinking the stuff.

6. I would call for law providing trial by jury on income tax matters in a district court (not federal) in the home county of the defendant. Only the defendant would have the right of appeal on the findings of the jury.

I would further advocate that if the government were not able to prove its case, the defendant would be indemnified for attorney's fees and time lost.

Magness CFD PR Chief

Canyon insurance agent Cary Magness has been named director of public information for the Canyon Volunteer Fire Department, according to Chief Jack Jennings.

Jennings said Magness will provide information to news media on activities of the department and will also coordinate public events. Among Magness' responsibilities will be the arranging of group and individual tours of department facilities, scheduling of programs for civic and school groups, and preparation of publicity and public relations material for special activities such as Fire Prevention Week and the Canyon Area Fire Control School.

The chief said the rapid expansion of the Canyon department as a model volunteer department created the need for the position.

Magness is completing his third year of service with the department. He moved here from Lubbock in 1969 and is owner of the Hosea Foster Agency. Magness has served as a director of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce and has been active in several fund raising drives.

Indian Artist's Watercolors Displayed At Museum

An exhibit of paintings by 24 year old Donald Vann, one of the most promising Indian Artists in America, will officially open Sunday at the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum here.

The exhibit will remain on display through Sunday, November 24, and will be available to all museum visitors on the second floor at the museum during regular hours. Museum hours are 2-6 p.m. on Sundays and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. week days.

Vann, a full-blooded Cherokee, is an intense and expressive portrait of the Indian life and experiences and is a master at the delicate craftsmanship traditional to Indian Art. He grew up with eight brothers and sisters in Stilwell, Oklahoma in a surrounding of Indian neighbors and their Cherokee heritage.

Artistic talent of Vann appeared at an early age and so impressed the noted Indian artist, Jerome Tiger, that he took young Donald in as his only student and protégé. Likewise, Tiger (until his sudden death in 1967) was Vann's only instructor in art. During his late teens, Vann went to live with an 'old, old medicine man' in the hills of Oklahoma where he was prepared to assume the sacred role of medicine man when the old man was gone.

Vann's watercolor paintings today tell a similar story with special reverence for the Great Spirit that he perceives. His expressive art has won Vann numerous awards in juried exhibitions and he has also been featured in one-man shows in Louisville, near his home in Kentucky.

Football-Soccer Season Ends: Basketball Season To Start Soon

By TROYCE MULHERIN
MONSOON-SEASON
GREETINGS:
NOW THAT BASKETBALL season is upon us, perhaps we should play catch-up with the soccer-football news. The first and second grade soccer team co-coached by Don Wilcox and Don Myers closed their season out with a picnic scrunched between two games played last Saturday. The games and the picnic all took place at Ellwood Park in Amarillo.

The boys were presented trophies by their coaches — this being in appreciation of the team members who played their very best. They managed to have a lot of fun, too. Don and Don had a fine time, also!

GENE HOWE'S OTHER soccer team, co-coached by Pat Meier, Pat Seth and Sarah Edwards, held an almost identical show on the same day and in the same place.

This team placed second in tournament play, gaining such status in the playing of two games last Saturday. Team members, coaches and parents enjoyed picnicking between these games. (Everyone got a chance to catch their breath.)

The coaches presented the young men trophies. And their team presented them with trophies. Word from these lady coaches expresses great and deep appreciation to the parents of their team members for the parental help and continuing enthusiasm.

A special thank you goes to Linda Shaffer, the very patient Linda, who hauled the youngsters around from game to game to game!

THE RAINY WEEKEND dampened football play. The long-anticipated Toy Bowl games had to be cancelled. Gene Howe's fifth grade team, co-coached by Ray Myers, Buster Carlile and Kyle Farmer, was to play in the Toy Bowl, as was our sixth grade team co-coached by Bob and Dennis Trook.

OUR FIFTH GRADE Myers-Carlile-Farmer team was selected Sportsmanship Team in its league! Isn't that great! Congratulations are in order for these coaches and their charges. This recognition is as meaningful as a first place championship rating — maybe even more. These guys had a bushel of fun, too!

AFTER THE TROOK sixth grade team found itself rained out last Saturday, the team, their parents, and the coaches slushed their way to Jackie and Ronnie Mayfield's home for ice cream and cup cakes. This team has one more game to play, and Coach Bob Trook said that awards will be made following that game.

WHILST WE ARE talking sports — wrestling may be on its way to Gene Howe. Jan Meier is working toward this goal. An organizational meeting was held at Gene Howe last Tuesday evening. Hopefully an independent wrestling group for young boys at Gene Howe will soon be underway. We're looking at nine teams throughout the city, with dual meets being held through November and into December.

If enough interest is shown, the program will also be open to seventh and eighth grade boys. If other events, such as choir programs in Canyon, etc., interfered with your attendance at this organizational meeting, please call Mr. Jan Meier at 352-4450 for details.

Presently, the minimum costs of participation will be $2.50. If the need for any type of uniform arises (and, Jan stressed that no uniforms would be requested — the kid can wrestle in his P.E. clothes), perhaps same could be made by the youngster's moms. The undertaking of this project presents a few problems — none insurmountable. Such as a place to practice and to hold meets. Finances figure in, as rent must be paid. So, if you can offer any help, or if you have questions, please call Jan.

TROOP 130 OF the Boy Scouts met at Gene Howe last week for its monthly pack meeting. Jim Bruffett, Scout Master, kept things well in hand. There was a goodly number of parents in attendance. The theme for this meeting and its programs was, "The Land of Make-Believe."

The Webelos presented the flag ceremony. Den One, of which Bernice Powers is den mother, presented a skit on make-believe characters, using puppets the boys had made themselves out of socks.

Jo Bruffett's Den Two presented a lively skit utilizing cardboard puppets they had constructed to reflect American folklore characters.

Betsy Hughes' Den Three members made themselves costumes patterned after the legendary John Henry's attire and entertained with a catchy rendition of John's famous song. Den Five, headed by Sandy Kozak, closed the meeting with the singing of "America."

Billy Edwards presented Bob Cat pins to Mike Kennon, John Clark, Ronny Bostick, John McDaniel, Scott Kozak, Curtis Boren, Tim Coldiron, Pat Sparkman and Mike Hughes. This was an impressive ceremony in which candles were arranged to spell out the letters in "CUBS." The "C" represented "Courtesy," the "U" stood for "Unity," the "B" signified "Bravery," and the "S" reflected "Service."

Other awards presented during the meeting included a Webelos Sportsman Badge to Darryl Bruffett; Gary Glenn received a Gold Arrow Point and a Silver Arrow Point!

The next Pack meeting for Troop 130 will be on November 21st at Gene Howe school.

THE WEBELOS OF Pack 130, accompanied by Billy Edwards and David Coldiron, participated in a bowling tournament this past weekend. Darryl Bruffett, Mike Morgan, Mike Gensler, John Ashley, and Kevin Oliver aimed the ol' ball at a lane, any lane, during this bowling bash.

John Ashley received an award and recognition as highest point maker for a single game in the novice bowlers division! John bowled an 82 average on this, his first time out! Lots of fun for all.

SHANNON EDWARDS, SON of Sarah and Billy, celebrated his eleventh birthday with a lively and entertaining slumber party for his friends. David Bromley, Matt Malson, Tony Sanders, Kelly Mayfield, Steve Sellers, Tim and Steve Stokes, Kent Newcomb and Darryl Bruffett brought their sleeping bags and youthful exuberance to the Edwards' home last Friday night for a big weiner roast and some bumper pool playing and some treasure hunting. (Actually, the dog "King" enjoyed the weiner roast more than any one else — in other words he got his share of dropped dogs.)

Treasure hunt clues were tricky, verrrrrry tricky. If you were asked to go to the sanitary engineer's workbench, would you go to the globetrotters pole at the moron institution, would you actually find yourself standing under the basketball hoop at Gene Howe school? These young men came up with the right answers and went to the right places. Drats!

The hit of the party games, tho, was the Gerbil Torture Game. No, they didn't torture the gerbils. It was the other way around. The object of the game was to see who could stay perfectly still the longest whilst a gerbil tromped up and down the participant's bare back. Oh, tee hee, giggle, squirm.

HAVING BEEN PRESENTED with the proposition of a ten dollar fee for Kid's Inc. basketball fee, and being of an inquisitive nature, yours truly called Jim Brock of Kids, Inc. to find out why the fee had gone up 150%.

Now, Jim is a pleasant fellow and patiently explained that the program has been operating in the red for a number of years. In fact this year's budget reads like $104,000 with an anticipated income of $82,000. You will note that $22,000 additional moneys is needed to support the various programs of Kids, Inc. Jim explained that building payments, a rise in the minimum wage paid to management, maintenance, (the shirts went up in costs to Kids, Inc. by 33¢ each); equipment costs increases, etc. etc. contributed to this effort to find some black ink somewhere on the ledger sheets. Also, fund raising events sponsored by Kids, Inc. failed to produce anticipated and much-needed funds.

Present projection is that the football fee will be $12 next time around. Hopefully, some relief will be forthcoming. Relief in the form of donations; in the form of more moneys from United Fund (Kids, Inc. is budgeted $15,000 — same as in 1958); relief from the city commission; relief from anywhere.

Jim gave assurance that the percentage of scholarships given in the past will still be in effect, and that close attention will be given to the awarding of such scholarships.

What it all boils down to is that it costs more to do anything these days. Hopefully, the basketball and football increases will offset some of these costs, thereby implementing the other Kids, Inc. programs.

THE CANYON BAND Parent's Association's first Bingo Night is scheduled for November 7th — at the bull barn — in Canyon — at 7:30 P.M. Plan to go and have fun.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 8th is a school holiday. Teacher in-service day. Sleep late.

THERE WAS A full house at Gene Howe last Monday morning. Reason for the goodly number of parents who took time out from their usual Monday morn routine was the sixth grade student's tribute to our veterans on Veterans Day.

Our sixth grade band, under the direction of Mr. King, presented several toe-tapping numbers. The 34-member band opened its part on the program with, "Our Boys will Shine Tonight." Other numbers included "Indian Dance," "Yankee Doodle," "Faith of our Fathers" and "Down in the Valley." Tho these band students have only been "banding" since the first of September, they played like pros! Really good!

Members of the sixth grade choir sang and spoke of "This Land, Our Land," a presentation created from their responses to a question put to them by Margie Phillips, which was: What does this country mean to you? Several patriotic musical selections were sung, much to the audience's delight. In fact, the audience got in on the program by joining in on the pledge to the flag and in the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner."

Gene Howe is definitely fortunate to have such excellent music and band instructors. We appreciate and value Mr. King and Mrs. Phillips — thank you both for sharing your talents with us and with our youngsters!

HAPPIES ARE IN store for Amy White, who became a year prettier on the 26th.

Happies to two of the Cates youngsters; namely Kenneth, who aged a year on the 23rd; and Ronnie, who added a year on the 30th. Both young men are sons of Sherrie and Roy Cates.

HAPPY HALLOWEEN! THE Thursday night decoupage. Had a party? Or giving one? Tell The Canyon News about it. Telephone 655-7121, or stop by the News office on the south side of the square.

class scheduled at Gene Howe on the 31st has been moved to November 7th. (This way we "creators" get to go trick or treating with the kids.)

HOPE TO SEE you at the Starving Artist Show which is scheduled for this Saturday and Sunday at Western Plaza in Big A. Times are from eleven til six both days.

IMPORTANT CORREC.

TION HERE: It was the morning kindergarten class which had the most parents in attendance for Back to School Night. The afternoon class is darling, and all the youngsters are precious — but — it was Mrs. Hollingsworth's morning class which won the banner!

THANKS FOR THE use of the hall and the calls.

Expenditures for the Griffin campaign total $1469 with $300 spent during the past month.

Moore, who sat out primary campaign battles, reports he's spent only $183 for his entire campaign, including $138 spent during the past month. He lists contributions for the month of $200 from E. Motley of Amarillo.

Otha Barbee, a Democrat trying to unseat incumbent John Fulgenzi for a seat on the county commissioners court, reports only one contribution for the month's period, one for $200 from W. C. Roberts, a Randall County developer.

He lists expenditures of $368 for the month and $878 for the campaign.

Fulgenzi lists $245 in contributions during the past month, including a $200 loan to himself. With prior contributions, he has received a total of $588 and has spent a total of $609 including $426 spent this past month.

County Clerk Hutton, a Republican facing re-election on Tuesday, filed a campaign statement indicating he has received contributions during the reporting period for about $200 and has loaned himself $500. Contributions came from Mrs. Rosaline Haley, for $45; Mr. and Mrs. James Brandon for $50, Naomi Daniels, $48; and the Amarillo Republican Women for $50.

Hutton reports having received a total of $1693 in contributions and loans for the campaign.

He reports expenditures for the reporting period of $827 and for the campaign of $1410.

Her opponent, Democrat Bob McClendon, had not filed a statement by 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Underwood To 'Map' Mercury

West Texas State University Professor of Geology James R. Underwood, Jr., has been named to the five-member coordinating committee to direct the mapping of Mercury. He received his appointment during a recent meeting in Hawaii of the more than 50-member team mapping the surface of Mars. The projects are being funded through grants from the National Aeronautics Space Administration.

For the Mercury mapping, the researchers will be compiling pictures taken by Mariner 10. Underwood is one of two university personnel on the coordinating committee.

"Mercury is a smaller planet," Underwood noted. "We have seen only 50 percent of it, so we do not have the magnitude of mapping we faced with Mars."

On Mercury we see very much the same features as on Mars," Underwood said. "They are more alike than unlike, both having densely cratered surfaces.

Mercury, however, has long linear ridges interpreted to be thrust faults unlike anything on Mars. Nor does Mercury have the big volcanic mountains found on Mars."

Underwood's present mapping of the Acidulum Planitia quadrangle is for the Center of Astrogeology of the U.S. Geological Survey. It is there that one of two Viking ships will land in 1976.

Underwood finds Mars the most interesting of the two planets. "Mars has more diversity," he said. "It has atmosphere and winds, which adds a dimension that neither the moon or Mercury has. There is also the possibility of running water on the surface."

Underwood who received his doctorate degree from the University of Texas in 1962 brought an extensive background of and land aerial photography analysis to the Mars mapping project. He was assigned to the AID program at the University of Baghdad, Iraq, from 1962-65.

In 1969, Underwood took a two-year leave of absence to serve as an Esso-sponsored professor at the University of Libya.

While in Libya, Underwood studied two large circular structures which he said proved to be astroblemes.

"Astroblemes are deeply eroded impact craters and some of the craters on Mars apparently are of this type," he said.

Student Artwork Now Displayed At WT

Works by Denise Teague, West Texas State University senior art student, will be on display in the Formal Lounge of the Fine Arts Building from November 3 to 15.

Approximately 30 works will be on exhibit, including oils, acrylics, watercolors, pottery, macrame, etchings and jewelry. The exhibition will open on November 3 with a reception from 2 to 5 p.m.

A resident of Big Spring, Miss Teague has studied with Mary Jane Byrd, formerly of Big Spring.

Spring. At West Texas State University she has continued her studies under Dr. Emilio Cabellero, Darold Dean Smith, David Rindlsbacher, Dr. Marion Galvin, Jerri Warren, J. D. Whitaker and Claude Salley.

Works by Miss Teague have been exhibited and entered in competition in the Big Springs Art Association, WTSU and Amarillo College student art exhibits, and the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum on the WT campus. She has won awards in sculpture and screen print.

Speech Tourney Awards For CHS

Five Canyon High School students earned awards at a speech tournament held in Panhandle during the week end where 11 schools had participants.

The CHS debate team, consisting of John Watkins and Richard McDonald, had a scoring of two wins and one loss.

Other CHS participants and their ranking at the tournament were Christi Prichard, who was a semi-finalist in experienced informative speaking events; Kelly Cox, who was a semi-finalist in novice informative speaking events; and Charlyne Moulton, who was a finalist and won third overall in experienced persuasive speaking events.

Next tournament event for the group will be participating in Dimmitt on Nov. 16, and the debate team's demonstrator performance at the University Interscholastic League workshop to be held Nov. 9 at West Texas State University.

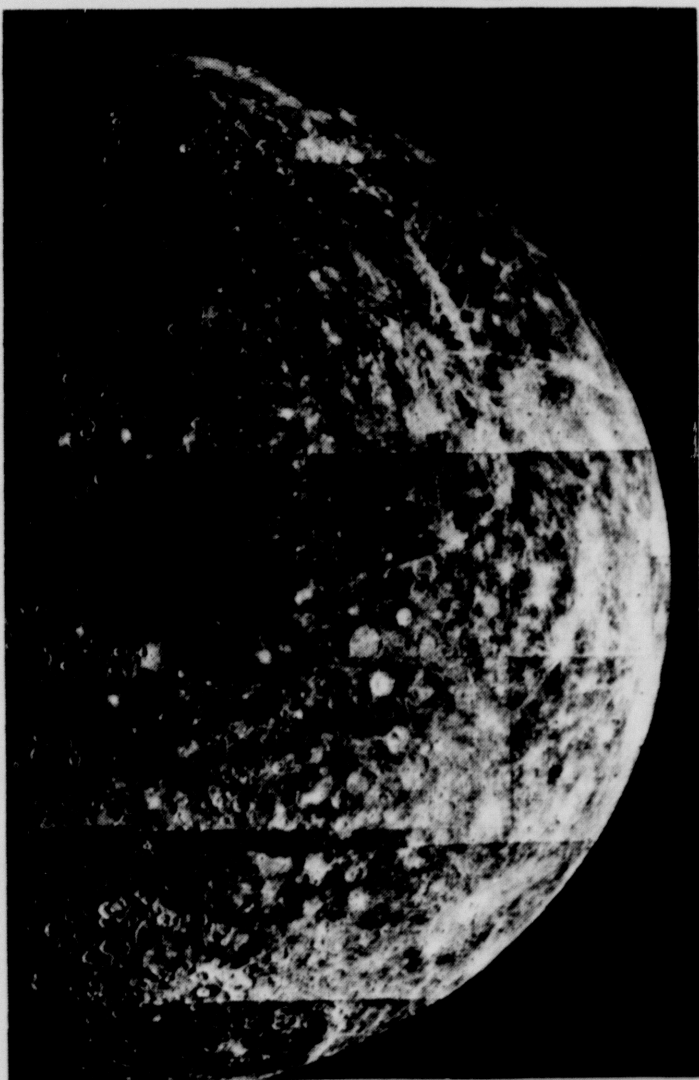

French Give To WT Dept.

The West Texas State University Modern Languages Department, specifically the French division, has received a $200 check from the French Cultural Services division of the French Consulate in Houston.

Dr. Jean-Jacques Aaron, cultural and science attaché, stated in the letter that the money is to aid "in the diffusion of the French culture and language."

This is the second year that the French government has sent such a grant to West Texas State.

Mrs. Monica Heiman, WTSU assistant professor of modern languages, said that the money will go for scholarships and to send WTSU Phi Delta Phi representatives to the annual American Association of Teachers of French national meeting in Denver after Thanksgiving.

This photomosaic of Mercury was constructed of 18 photos taken at 42-second intervals by Mariner 10 six hours after the spacecraft flew past the planet on March 29. The north pole is at the top and the equator extends from left to right about two-thirds down from the top. A large circular basin, about 1300 kilometers (800 miles) in diameter, is emerging from the day-night terminator at left center. Bright rayed craters are prominent in this view of Mercury. One such ray seems to join in both east-west and north-south directions. Taken from a distance of about 210,000 kilometers (130,000 miles), the pictures were computer-enhanced at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

All Around The House Burns Frequent Cause Of Injuries

By BECKY HALL

County Extension Agent

Burns are the most frequent cause of accidents for infants, young children and people over 65. Severity of injury is also related to the age of the victim. Children under six are the most seriously injured.

Apparel burns result in a higher mortality rate than all other types of burns. Approximately 7,000 fire deaths occur in homes each year. Of these 3,000-5,000 fire deaths involve the accidental ignition of clothing and wearing apparel. An additional 1,500 fire deaths are associated with fires starting in household textiles. The number of burn injuries are estimated between 150,000 and 300,000 annually.

A flame retardant or flame resistant fabric is one which will not continue to support a flame — it is self-extinguishing when removed from the source of ignition. Although some processes may be effective in reducing risk of fire in a fabric, it is impossible to produce flame retardant apparel which will provide 100 percent protection from all types of flammability accidents. Practically all substances burn when exposed to sufficient heat.

Fabric in a piece may not burn as it would if made into a garment. A garment made from flame retardant fabric may still burn. Fire can run along the seam of the garment, creating a "chimney" effect.

The flammability of garments may be influenced by fiber, content, structure of fabric, weight of fabric, moisture regain, garment design and tightness of fit. Be careful in buying garments that have an excessive amount of lace, ruffles and trim. Refrain from buying gowns or dresses with loose fitting sleeves, especially for children and the elderly.

Read labels for special care directions for flame retardant fabrics.

The new sleep-wear standards which are proposed would require all children's pajamas, robes and nightgowns in sizes 7 thru 14 pass rigid flammability tests. The new proposal for sizes 7-14 is basically the same as for sizes 0-6x, with certain modifications in testing procedures and equipment which recognize the ability of older children to take some self-protective measures.

Caution your children not to play near heat or flame sources. If, by accident, a clothing fire does occur, do not run. Running increases the burning rate. Roll on the floor to smother the flames or, if available, smother them with any heavy material like a throw-rug, coat or blanket. Remember, fire needs air to burn, and cutting off the air supply is the best way to put out a fire.

Dr. Wilma Jo Bush and Dr. Claud Zevely, both Associate Professors of Elementary Education at West Texas State University, have been selected to the Compendium-1974.

The criteria for acceptance in the Compendium are: recognized contributions in the form of teaching, writing, research or outstanding community endeavors resulting in advances in the education of exceptional learners.

from the 65th District. Republican John Kenehan, who has vowed he'll knock on 1000 doors in his Canyon campaign, is also a contender for the seat vacated by Bryan Poff of Canyon.

Both Simpson and Kenehan have made numerous visits to Canyon with Simpson concentrating more on a media campaign and Kenehan opting for the hand-shaking route.

Neither has held state public office. Simpson is an Amarillo attorney and Kenehan is a partner in a construction firm in that city.

Another hot race on the local level pits Democrat Bryan Poff of Canyon against Connally Lockhart of Amarillo for the bench of the 47th District Court. Both men have taken to television and newspaper to advertise their campaigns and the two became involved in a front page confrontation last week when Lockhart accused Poff of unethical campaign practices. Poff is state representative from this district and Lockhart is an Amarillo attorney.

Hutton finds himself with an opponent this year for the county clerk office. A Republican, he faces Democrat Charles Hogan of Amarillo on the ballot. Hutton has been county clerk since the mid-1960s.

Robert E. McClendon is on the ballot as a candidate from the Democratic Party for county treasurer. While McClendon has not campaigned for the office, his opponent Republican Marty Schantz has visited Canyon voters several times.

Two county commissioner elections are of some interest to voters in the north part of the county. Incumbent commissioner John Fulgenzi, a Republican, takes on challenger Otha V. Barbee in the county's second precinct.

Bill C. Moore, a Democrat, takes on Dee Griffin, Sr., a Republican, in the fight over the fourth precinct county commission seat to be vacated by incumbent Bill Butler.

are studying now to determine not only the feasibility of using solar energy but also the economic feasibility of such a plan.

Loudder expressed interest in such a proposal last summer when the old boiler at the city pool went out, bathing local youngsters in icy cold water.

Loudder said at that time that it might be possible to effect cost savings, if not initially then later in operational expenses, through use of solar energy to heat the pool.

Nelson said current study revolves around the amount of energy needed to heat the pool, and the amount of surface area needed to collect solar energy to provide that energy.

Following that phase of the study, the students will focus on kinds of solar energy conversion units which might provide the energy needed to heat the pool.

He said a commercial company is now making solar collection units and the students will eye the cost of such units for the project. If the units prove too expensive, the students will examine other types of conversion units.

Nelson said it initially appears solar energy might save money in the long run, particularly in the light of the fact that boilers for the swimming pool use a massive amount of energy and must run 24 hours per day.

Poll Power Campaign Urges Voter Turnout

The Canyon Federated Council (composed of Canyon Study Club, Heritage Womens Club, Sue Hite Womens Club, University Study Club, and Women's Book Club) in conjunction with the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, announces an ambitious "Poll Power Campaign" to get 75% of the already registered voters to the polls on November 5.

Mrs. Tom Cannon, area chairman for Poll Power, says that strictly non-partisan campaign will involve every man, woman, and child in our area. Figures show that only 28% of the eligible voters in Texas cared enough to vote in the last election.

"This will be a phone effort to encourage all to vote," noted Mrs. Cannon. "This is an all out campaign to show the world that the people of Canyon care about their government."

Other local organizations and volunteers are welcome to participate in the "Poll Power Campaign" with the members of these five women's clubs.

Geology Prof. Writes Paper

Dr. George B. Asquith, associate professor of geology at West Texas State University, has published an article as circular 141 of the New Mexico Bureau of Mines and Mineral Resources series. The bureau is a division of the New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology.

Entitled "Petrography and Petrogenesis of Tertiary Camptonite and Diorites, Sacramento Mountains, New Mexico," the article discusses the formation and classification of rare igneous rocks in the Sacramento Mountains.

According to the WT professor, he has received more than 35 reprint requests including requests from Russia, New Zealand, Canada, the Smithsonian Institution and the National Aeronautics Space Administration.

His research was done through an Organized Research grant from West Texas State University.

Geology Society To Have Barbecue For Homecoming

The West Texas State University Student Geological Society will bring a touch of Mexico to the Panhandle in honor of the WTSU Homecoming with a goat barbecue Saturday.

More than 30 WTSU geology students and exes have been invited to attend the roast at the John Phillips residence at 1406 W. 11, Amarillo, beginning at 6 p.m.

Club sponsor is Dr. George Asquith, WTSU geology professor, who is also serving on the butchering and cooking committee.

According to Asquith, the process of butchering the two cabritos is a complex one unknown to most Panhandle residents.

"You have to be very careful that the hair does not touch the meat or it will give it a bad taste," Asquith noted. The meat will roast on spits all day over a low fire.

Asquith apparently obtained his talent while in Mexico on geological trips.

Even the purchasing of the kids proved to be difficult as the club members had to go to Liberal, Kansas, to obtain them.

To accompany the tasty meat the club members will provide pinto beans and other Mexican dish delights.

Course Underway At Campus Center

A six-session course involving how to work successfully in a group is being taught at the Methodist University Center, 107 26th Street, by Dr. Jack Nance, associate professor of education, and Mary Lou Farnum, assistant dean of women, at West Texas State University.

The course, open to all, began Tuesday evening, Oct. 22, and is being sponsored by the Council on Ministries of the Amarillo District of the United Methodist Church. It is one of six courses being offered this fall and inquiries may be made to Rev. John Wagoner at the center.

Other courses offered this week in the Fall Lay Academy Series are October 25-26 at St. Paul United Methodist Church, Amarillo, with Dr. Ted Dotts, Pampa District superintendent, teaching "Our Methodist Heritage" and Rev. Roger Loyd, campus minister at Texas Tech, teaching the "Bible and Prophecy."

Sanders Enjoys Study Under Famed Director

Acting on a long cherished desire to discover for himself the basis of Robert Shaw's phenomenal success in choral conducting, West Texas State University's Dr. Hugh Sanders participated this summer in a professional level chorus under Shaw's direction.

Already a noted choral conductor in his own right, Sanders joined the ranks of a 175-member mixed chorus at Westminster Choir College in Princeton, New Jersey for the intensive period of rehearsals and performances.

"I had heard and read statements by Robert Shaw, and listened to his recordings. Music conducted by Shaw has unbelievable energy, and I had always wondered how he accomplished this," Sanders said.

Thanks to his summer experience in Princeton, Sanders believes he has his answer. "He does it by an incessant rhythmic drive. The words can be made to 'happen' so the rhythmic drive is not tampered with. A consonant, for example, is sung slightly ahead of the beat so the vowel 'happens' on the beat. It requires great mental energy."

Performances by the 175-member mixed chorus were given in Pittsburgh with the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra and Metropolitan Opera soloists, and in Lincoln Center with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra.

Sanders's study was sponsored through an award provided by the Faculty Venture Fund, which were monies set aside by WTSU President Lloyd I. Watkins from his President's Council contributions.

Chorale Exes To Meet During Homecoming

A luncheon honoring West Texas State University Chorale exes and parents of present members will be sponsored by the choral Music Department during Homecoming activities Saturday, Nov. 1, at 11 a.m., Dr. Hugh Sanders, Chorale director, has announced.

The luncheon will be held in the choir room of the Fine Arts Building on the WTSU campus.

Sanders added that a short rehearsal for the exes will take place at 10 a.m. in the choir room.

Tickets for the luncheon are $3. Reservations may be made by calling the music office at 656-2016, or by contacting a member of the WTSU Chorale.

Education Department Is Accredited

The National Council for Accreditation for Teacher Education has notified officials at West Texas State University that the College of Education accreditation will be continued.

Programs to prepare elementary and secondary teachers at the baccalaureate degree level will be extended until September 1, 1983, and elementary and secondary teachers accreditation at the master's degree level until Sept. 1, 1977, according to Dr. Jim Kidd, WTSU dean of education.

Re-evaluation of these programs for an additional accreditation period will be made at those times.

"The basic purpose of accreditation is to assure the public that particular institutions offer programs in preparation of teachers and other professional school personnel that meet national standards of quality," Kidd said.

Legion Gives To ROTC

The American Legion, Hanson Post 54 of Amarillo has presented a $150 check to the West Texas State University Department of Military Science Scholarship Fund.

Making the presentation to Lt. Col. John Luke, WTSU professor of military science, was Mr. Ray Cliver, post commander of the American Legion Post 54.

The scholarship fund provides a $50 scholarship to those first year Army ROTC students who meet the academic, extracurricular and financial need criteria.

Since the fund's inception in late 1970, 29 awards have been made on a competitive basis to deserving military science students.

Contributions to the Military Science Scholarship Fund are tax deductible.

Grant Given WT Computer

The West Texas State University Computer Information Systems (CIS) Department received their fourth yearly $1,000 grant from AMOCO, the producing division of Standard Oil of Indiana.

Also included in the grant letter was AMOCO praise of the outstanding degree program of the WTSU CIS Department.

The grant will be divided equally between scholarships for equipment, teaching and related activities, according to Dr. Phil Gensler, department head.

Three scholarships will be awarded from the grant, one $100 and two $200, sometime in December. Applications will be accepted beginning November 1.

Requirements for application, according to Gensler, are a major in CIS, good grades, enrollment in fall and spring terms and completion of at least six hours of CIS at West Texas State University.

Candidate To Knock Canyon Doors

Republican candidate John Kenen says he will knock on 1,000 doors in Canyon in his bid for the 65th District spot in the state legislature.

Kenan has some definite ideas on what he hopes to accomplish if he manages to beat out Democratic candidate Bob Simpson.

He says he is violently opposed to either a state corporation or personal income tax.

camel's head under the tent and declares that if this becomes law a state income tax on personal income will follow in short order.

He would like to see tenure of elective offices limited.

He said he would like to see law enacted allowing a state legislator no more than three terms.

"I think I can give this district representation in Austin that it does not now have," the candidate declared. "We have a bunch of young lawyers in the legislature now," he went on. "I think the legislature should be representative of the people, a cross section."

Kenan, a native of Fort Worth, is 54 years old and has been active in Randall County politics where he served as county chairman for the GOP.

He attended Amarillo College and West Texas State University and as a young man worked for the Corps of Engineers as a mathematician.

He worked as a CAA air controller and then was an airline captain.

He was in business in Gyro Sales with his father for a number of years in Amarillo.

He and his wife, Mary, a Kansan by birth, have one son, John III, who has a degree in psychology and presently is working toward a masters in social work.

The Yugoslavian dance ensemble FRULA, now engaged in its fifth annual tour of the United States, will be the next attraction offered on the Special Events Calendar at West Texas State University.

Appearing on November 4 at 8 p.m. in the Field House, the company of 40 dancers, acrobats, folk instrumentalists and singers will put on a performance described by the Newark News as "the fastest and among the most exciting we have seen," and by the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette as "a triumph of artistic direction and performance — a delight."

Founded in 1964 by Dragoslav Dzadzovic, FRULA has become in the short span of a decade one of the most popular and successful ethnic ensembles in the world. Based initially on a prolonged and intensive research and training program, the authentic ethnic dances of the seven Yugoslavian republics were further condensed and heightened to create the brilliant song and dance adaptations of FRULA'S repertoire.

The enormous exuberance and agility of this young company, whose average age is 21, has impressed audiences everywhere.

Tickets for the performance are available to WTSU students upon presentation of their ID cards at the Student Activities office. Tickets are available to WTSU faculty and staff for $1 per ticket, and to the general public for $2 per adult ticket.

The meeting was held in the home of Jo Green with Charlotte Brantley as co-hostess. About 20 were present for the meeting which opened with members answering roll call on "an unforgettable teacher."

Next meeting of the club will be November 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Anita Low.

The "TEXAS" summer drama staff is hard at work making preparations for the 1975 season which will be the tenth production season of the musical drama.

Work on a subsequent season starts the day after a season ends with preparation of reports and the storing of props and chairs.

Another off-season job is the publications reprinting such as 40,000 which go to the travel agents, the Guide Books, maps and magazines because such people and publications work almost a year ahead. This year's reprint is half of a full-page feature article which appeared in the Dallas News during August 1974.

Federated Dinner For Clubwomen Here

Canyon's Federated Club Council is making final plans for a dinner involving the five federated clubs here to be held Monday evening, November 4, at the First Presbyterian Church of Canyon.

Federated clubwomen from the Woman's Book Club, Sue Hite Club, Heritage Woman's Club, Canyon Study Club and University Study Club are scheduled to attend the event which begins at 7 p.m.

Smith Attends Styling Seminar

Bob Smith of University Barber Shop in Canyon recently attended the Nu-Vita Educational Seminar in Dallas which was sponsored by Nu-Vita division of Koffler Industries, Inc., a franchisor of mens hairstyling techniques.

Various workshops were conducted with Julian Maurice, a World Champion European hairstylist, headlining the demonstrators.

At the office, mailing lists are being brought up to date by Elsie

'TEXAS' Staff Working Toward Tenth Season

Another special printing is the auditions folders (15,000) and the various posters for which proofs were read this week. These auditions folders go to colleges and universities across the nation.

Another printing, currently in the bidding stage, is the brochures of which there will be more than 600,000 printed.

In order for the tenth season to open on schedule June 18, the work must never stop and presently the executive vice-president, Raymond Raillard, is away at the Institute of Outdoor Drama Annual Managers Conference in North Carolina. He will be on the program for the managers conference and enroute home will stop to visit tour agencies, newspapers and television stations. As a result of these calls, many tour groups from the deep south have been attending "TEXAS" in recent years.

A new source of talent for the "TEXAS" show was sought this week as William A. Moore, director, and Margaret Echols Moore, assistant director, were holding auditions in Albuquerque at the Southwest Theatre Conference at the University of New Mexico. Mr. Moore served on the committee which made the arrangements for the conference which for the first time had various directors holding combined hearings for their theatres at the conference.

Mrs. Ples Harper, public relations, will be taking posters and publicity materials to the Texas Travel Conference at Padre Island this next week when she represents the show.

In addition the frames for two new displays for travel show advertisement of the "TEXAS" drama have been readied and other work is going on at the office here in Canyon as the bookkeeper, Marion Higdon, gets the books prepared for the accountants.

At the office, mailing lists are being brought up to date by Elsie Higdon so that the fall reprints with new dates for the 1975 season will be mailed to several thousand people when it is printed. She addressed over 100,000 envelopes for mailings last year.

And the office manager, Bonnie Whittington, is pulling files and preparing materials for the permanent records as well as helping the other staff members make preparations for the 1975 season to be onstage at the Pioneer Amphitheatre in Palo Duro Canyon June 18 through August 23, 1975.

For tickets or information about auditions or to make arrangements for tour groups the permanent mailing address for "TEXAS" is Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015 or phone 806-655-2182.

"TEXAS" office staff members continue working in the off-season making preparations for next season's production of the outdoor musical drama. From left are Bonnie Whittington, office manager; Elsie Higdon, who handles mailings, and Marion Higdon, bookkeeper.

Federated Clubwomen Attend Board Meeting

The council discussed and made final preparations for their Halloween booth at the carnival tonight.

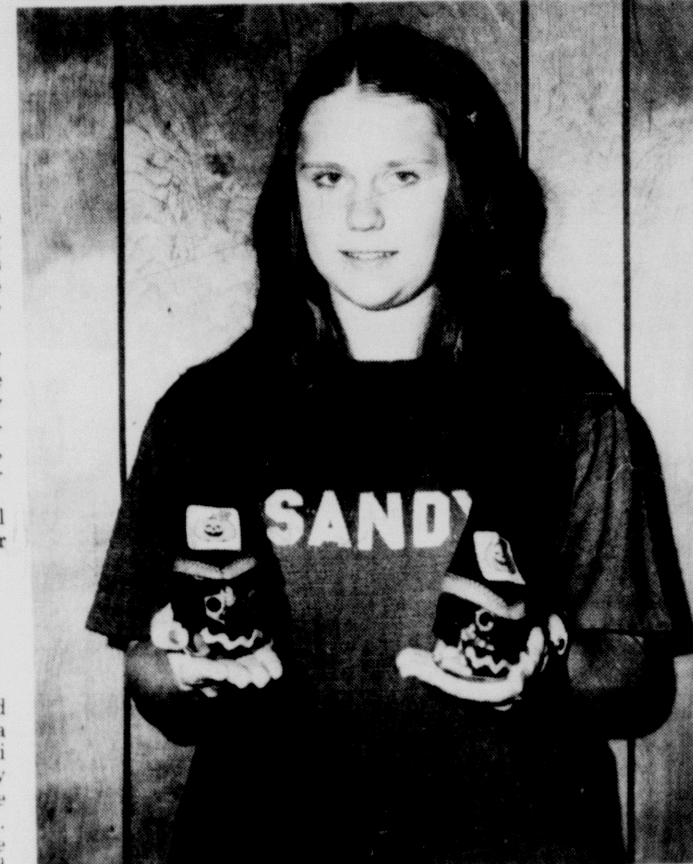

Plans were also reviewed for the 'Festive Foods' show to be sponsored by the council on November 19 at the Farm Bureau Building. The programs (at 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.) are open to all homemakers who are interested in new recipes for the holiday season.

Another upcoming project for the council is the 4-H Awards Night and smorgasbord supper to be held November 11, according to an announcement made by Becky Hall, County Extension Agent.

Mrs. Hall also noted that homemakers will be offered a six-week series of 30 minute programs to begin November 23 on KGNC-TV dealing with 'household repairs. The agent is slated to give programs on a follow-up subject for the clubs throughout the county at their February 1975 meetings.

Next meeting for the council will be November 25 at 2 p.m. in the Farm Bureau Building.

Fire Safety A Must In Mobile Homes

By DORIS McKEE
DO HOPE ALL of you remembered to set your clocks and watches back an hour Sunday morning. It does make the sun come up earlier every day, but it sure does make the bedtime hour a long, long time after dark.

DID YOU KNOW that it only takes about three minutes for a fire to take possession of a mobile home? The latter part of last week myself and some other people from the park saw a fire about fires, what to do and how to set up an escape route for yourself and your family.

All families wherever they live, should have some plan of action worked out with their family in the event of fire. Fire kills three times more children in one year than polio ever did. The problem is whether or not you will know about the fire in time to get out. Pyro Sentinel Fire and Smoke Alarms (this system is endorsed by Paul Harvey), was showing this film. Mr. L. A. Sparks (374-0853) is the representative for this alarm system in this area and would be most happy to show you the film. If you are interested, just give him a call. This is not just for mobile homes, but for any home. Fire is definitely not something to play with. Please take precautions.

WE WOULD LIKE very much to say welcome to the Charles Heglin family who have moved in at 100 Loma Linda. They bought Cherry and Jimmy Carter's lot. Hope you'll like it out here.

Also, welcome to the Larry Joneses at 206 Loma Linda. Happy to have you here in Siesta.

The Gerald Donaldsons are moving into 207 Loma Linda. We hope you'll be happy here also.

As soon as the weather clears up enough, we'll be losing Opal Taylor from rental 149 Siesta. She has purchased a mobile home and it is being set up on her lot. Hope everything goes well for you.

THE LADIES CLUB met on Tuesday night. We mainly worked out some of the last details for the Halloween Carnival. The set-up will begin on Thursday morning and will be completed by late afternoon. We will have two games and apple bobbing for 10 cents each and the spookhouse will be 25 cents. We will have coffee and witch's brew for sale. The ladies will be working in costume.

After expenses the proceeds will go to the Volunteer Fire Department Fund. Come on out and have some fun. Everyone is invited.

SPORTSMANSHIP! THAT IS a mighty big word and it covers a very large territory. Yes, the fifth grade football team at Gene Howe won the SportsmanSHIP award for this season. Tod McKee and Paul Qualls played on this team and believe you me, the entire team really did display sportsmanship. We are very proud of all you guys.

We were to play our Toy Bowl game Sunday afternoon, but it was a mite too wet, so we played it Monday at 6:00 p.m. at Gene Howe. We played Hamlet and you guessed it, they beat us 6 to 0.

Just remember boys, maybe you didn't win any games this year but you sure learned and displayed beautiful sportsmanship, and us mothers really love you for it. Also, thanks to a great coach, Ray Myers.

THE FIFTH AND sixth grades combined team that Roger, Shannon and Michael play on will have to make up their Toy Bowl game this week. It got rained out Sunday. Good luck boys, when you play.

I LEARNED THAT Mark Shaffer played on Pat Meir's second grade soccer team. They had a fair season. They won two regular games and one in the tournament. They had a lot of fun and the season was enjoyed by all.

SEEMS JON HOFFMAN is doing good and hoping to get back to his regular job in another week, if nothing happens. Of course it will be a while longer before he can get back to being a hard working assistant manager here in the park.

Since Jon is staying around home, seems the family is dropping in pretty often. Jon's brother and sister-in-law, Tony and Cheri Hoffman and their son Adam, all of Borger, visited Jon and his family last week. Also, Jon's folks, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hoffman of Kiowa, Kan., were here for several days.

KENNETH AND LINDA Shaffer had a family get-together this week end. They had a big to-do in the recreation building, with lots of brothers, sisters, cousins, nieces and nephews from all around this area and some out of state guests. Mr. and Mrs. Jewell Shaffer (Kenneth's folks) from Orosi, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Mullins (an aunt and uncle) from Sedalia, Mo.

They really had a great time visiting, playing dominoes, ping pong and other things. They had refreshments and burned a fire in the fireplace. They took lots of pictures, one of which had a five generation display. You know five generations are very hard to get together. I think it's just marvelous that you all could get it together.

SUSAN AND TIM Padgett took the kids and spent the week-end in Perryton with her folks.

DORIS AND KENNETH Wallace had a long week end, so they decided to go to Arkansas City, Kan., to see their daughter and her family, the Bill Jordans. Know they enjoyed those grand kids. They were all planning to go over to Ponca City, Okla. on Sunday and have lunch with Mrs. Cora Erwin, Doris' mother. There's only one problem with a trip like this, it's all too short, right Doris?

PEARL AND DALE West had some friends from Lubbock drop in to see them on Saturday night, Norma and Clifton Helms and their daughter, Stacy. All had a very nice visit.

SEEMS PECK RISNER had to make a trip to the V.A. Hospital in Oklahoma City last week. They wanted to check the ear that they had done surgery on back in the spring of this year. It was doing very well. Now they plan to do some surgery on his other ear, sometime in the near future.

I TALKED TO Sharon Jones on Monday this week. She is still at High Plains Baptist. She is a little better, but not able to come home yet. Maybe by this time next week. We're still pulling for you, Sharon.

DIANA HOFFMAN GOT word this week end that her grandmother had to be put in the hospital in Kansas. This is the wife of her grandfather, who recently spent 80-something days in the hospital himself.

SHARON FLEMING HAS been sick for several weeks now. She was in the hospital for about a week, so her mother, Oleta Potter, told me. We wish her a speedy recovery.

I NOTICED the fire truck is parked on La Fiesta now. They move it around some, so everyone can see it and know we do have one. Guess we are going to have to try and get a building of some kind to put the truck in this winter, if at all possible.

DON'T FORGET OUR Halloween Carnival. Got to run for now. Keep on reading. Thought for this week: "Don't be petty and ugly, it's very unbecoming."

See ya!

Quitaque Digs Could Prove Nature Of Indian Trade

Four-and-a-half months of painstaking excavation by West Texas State University masters candidate Eddie Guffee on three dugouts near Quitaque have yet to prove that it was a Comanchero trading site.

The first hopeful clue that trade was being carried on with New Mexicans appeared last week, however, with his discovery of bits of micaceous pottery, a type made in that state.

The Comancheros, a Spanish name for New Mexicans who traded with the Indian tribes, brought trade goods such as textiles and iron work to the area to exchange for horses and mules, according to Dr. James Hanson, director of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum. This trade flourished in the 1800s.

The exact method of this transaction, however, seems to be point of historical contention that Guffee may be able to prove or disprove with the discovery of further artifacts.

Assisting Guffee these last months have been numerous WTSU archeology students and area amateurs.

The museum director expresses some skepticism that the site will ever prove to be Comanchero because in the accounts that he has read there is "no evidence that they built any permanent buildings."

"The accounts indicate that most of the Comancheros came out of Santa Fe with two-wheel carts and brought them out on the plains," Hanson says. "Then they hid the carts, unpacked their goods, loaded them on horses or oxen and brought the goods to the Indians."

In other words, "they did their trading and then packed up and went back," Hanson continues.

There was a good reason for this not having a permanent site, Hanson points out, because the Indians often stole the horses and mules back before the traders could return to New Mexico.

Other historical accounts, such as R.G. Carter's "On the Border with MacKenzie" state that in October, 1871, when the colonel's troops were in Blanco Canyon, "we discovered this day the trading stations of the Mexicans with the Indians, consisting of curiously built caves in the high banks or bluffs, the earth being propped up or kept in place by a framework of poles," precisely the kind of site Guffee is excavating on the Merrell estate.

The dugouts are located in the rolling, mesquite-covered arroyos along the Los Linguish and Quitaque creek. Local legend has the valley as a trading point between Indians and the New Mexican and Mexican Comancheros.

"The Merrells knew that the dugouts were there when they first came in 1889," Guffee said. The Merrell home is now located some 150 yards away.

The bits of drab, gray pottery with the sparkly mica finish have only been found downslope from the third hut. This could very well be one of the trade articles Guffee needs to designate the site as Comanchero.

"I'm thinking right now that the third hut is the oldest, and later settlers saw it, and thought that they would have their dugouts there, too, and so put the other two beside it," Guffee mused.

It is there that Guffee plans to work when he re-opens the site in the spring, having now only found a contact zone which he thinks may be the outer wall.

The first hut was excavated by an Oklahoman several years ago, and it yielded a wealth of rifle barrels, a pistol, glass fragments and numerous other metal fragments.

In the middle hut, Guffee has found the walls, located the fireplace, and uncovered two boots, a sheep pelvis, thick metal cans opened by diagonal cuts from a knife, glass buttons, a "Dime Knife" pewter pocketknife and other small artifacts.

"Up until now, the only proof that I have had is that it was an anglo-buffalo hunters' camp, or perhaps a sheepherders' camp," Guffee said.

The dugout inhabitants used the areas downslope for their trash dumps, and it is there that the persistent archeologists have excavated numerous artifacts, large amounts of burned and unburned buffalo or cow bone, bits of white porcelain, glass, flint, square nails, and lead slugs. But none have been important finds.

An 1845 account by U.S. Army Lt. James Abert published in the 1941 Panhandle-Plains Historical Review states that the "Comancheros" make frequent trading excursions into the country of the Indians, and Josiah Gregg, in an account published in the 1964 Volumes 7-8 of The Museum Review says, "that when the trade in stolen stock assumed greater proportions, definite meeting places were arranged... on Las Linguas and the Quitaque."

And local historian J. Evetts Haley, in his 1935 Southwestern Historical Quarterly article "The Comanchero Trade," states that "the Comanchero trail... by long pointed its way to the hinterlands of the Plains and the trading grounds of the Indians."

When Goodnight came into the Panhandle from Colorado in 1876 there were at least three Comanchero trails almost "as plain as the wagon roads of today."

What is needed for positive proof, according to Hanson, is a sample of those barter goods the Comancheros brought — iron work, textiles and other typically New Mexican artifacts with the strong Spanish influence.

But until more is known about the third hut, no one can say. That will have to wait until spring.

Bufs Hope For Homecoming Win In Non-Conference Game

The Buffaloes of WTSU are hoping for a win Saturday afternoon when they host the Lamar Cardinals at 1:30 p.m. in Frank Kimbrough Memorial Stadium before an expected homecoming crowd of 12,000.

WT is now 4-3 for the season after having lost two in a row — the first at Tulsa and the second last week in Utah. Lamar, who stands 5-1 for the season, has defeated North Texas State (27-6), Southwestern Louisiana (38-13), Arkansas State (10-6), plus defeating two common WT Lamar foes, Drake and the University of Southern Mississippi. The only loss for Lamar was at the hands of Mississippi State.

The Buffs have won three straight for a 4-2 edge in the series with Lamar which began in 1965. The biggest win for the Maroon came in 1968 when WT won 45-7.

Vernon Glass, Lamar coach, is in his 12th year with Lamar. He owns a 60-38-4 record with Southland titles in 1964-65-66 and in 1971.

Last week WT lost to Utah 21-16. The Buffs led 16-7 in the fourth quarter but the Utags scored two late touchdowns for the win.

In Beaumont, Jabo Leonard kicked a 24-yard field goal with just four seconds left for Lamar's 10-7 win over USM. The kick was set up by Donald Hill's 28-yard pass interception return.

There are no major injuries for the Buffs this week. Middle linebacker Bruce Davis was cleated after snapping the ball on a punt, but he will be back for the Lamar game. Safety Mike Lozano saw action for the first time last week after going out with a pulled hamstring against New Mexico State. The only injured player still questionable as to his return is cornerback Scott Hindman who injured a knee against Idaho.

Bobby Fores, Lamar quarterback, missed the Southern Mississippi game with a bruised foot but could be ready for limited action Saturday.

Assistant coach Earl Wood watched the Cardinals nip Southern Miss and he came away impressed with Lamar's overall team speed. "They are going to be quicker than anyone we have played. Left defensive tackle Garry Wright made a lot of tackles and their secondary is probably more skilled than anyone we've played against," stated Wood.

WT will run primarily from the Blanchard at the controls. Full-back Johnny Darden is the top rusher with 372 yards, but half-back Eddie Richardson is closing with 342. Passing off the "Bone, Blanchard has completed 26 of 63 attempts for 470 yards and six touchdowns. His top receivers are split end Tracy Dickson and tight end Merced Solis.

Lamar will use the Wing-T but the quarterback who will run it against WT is a question mark. Flores had been the starter until hurt, but Glass may keep him out in waiting for the Southland Conference battle a week hence against Louisiana Tech. Al Rabb has been his replacement, completing 10 of 21 passes for 192 yards and one touchdown. Full-back Chambers is the top rusher with 253 yards, but the tailback position is up for grabs between Melancon, 221 yards and Anthony Pendland, 208. Larry Spears is the top receiver with 16 catches for 288 yards and two scores.

Utah State coach Phil Krueger called WT's defense "the second best we have faced this year, after Oklahoma." The Buffs will operate out of a 4-3 alignment. Last week, strong safety Kelson, linebacker Steve Rogers and weak safety Bryan Carr were the statistical leaders.

Lamar's basic set is also the 4-3, but the Cards move out of it quite a bit. The left side of the line with end Leon Babineaux and tackle Wright were the stars against USM. Middle linebacker David Halbrook was the SLC's defensive player of the week after the Arkansas State game, but then there is that strong secondary led by Randy Colbert with three interceptions.

Only one Valley game was played last week, but it played to form. Drake spoiled New Mexico State's Homecoming with a 29-28 upset to move slightly ahead of the Buffs in the league race. Tulsa still leads with a 3-0 record and Louisville is second at 2-1. Drake is third with a 2-1-1 mark. WT and NMS are tied for fourth at 2-2.

Two big MVC battles top this week's schedule. Leaders Tulsa and Louisville clash for the lead in Louisville, while Drake tries to move up at Wichita State. New Mexico State is at Albuquerque to meet rival New Mexico and North Texas State hosts San Diego State.

Next week the Buffaloes hit the road again for a non-conference game at the University of Tampa.

The Canyon number 2 fifth grade Kids Inc. football team finished their football season with a 20-0 win over Belmar number 2 fifth grade team in the annual Toy Bowl game. During the season the Canyon team racked up 196 points against opponents and had only 12 points scored against them in their eight game schedule. They were league F champions, winning every game except for a non-league contest with Canyon number one team which was a 0-0 tie. Coaches for the team were Steve Wisniewski and Nick Cavrich.

Bob Romer at Burwell Rodeo

Local Resident Enjoys Clowning Around With 2000 Pound Bulls

"I have a ball in the area," stated Bob Romer a 29 year old rodeo clown with the Rodeo Cowboys Association. Romer has made his home in Canyon since 1970.

Romer, who grew up in Holly, Colorado, started clowning in 1967. He joined the RCA in 1968. Not only has he clowning but he has also ridden bulls and saddled broncos until this past year.

Romer started clowning while at Oklahoma State University. He graduated from OSU in 1969 with a degree in Animal Science and Nutrition. Prior to clowning, Romer had 1200 irrigated acres and 1000 head of cattle in Colorado. He managed the farm while a student at OSU. He stated that he had two men working for him and his pilots license which enabled him to go to the farm on weekends.

Romer has clowning in Florida, Alabama, Georgia, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona.

He hopes to stay with clowning for 10 to 15 more years.

While clowning, Romer has broken his collar bone, his cheek bone and his leg. He has experienced being pushed around since in high school where he was state high school wrestling champion. He wrestled for two years at OSU.

Romer stated that he has worked as many as 12 performances in 10 days in four different rodeos. He stated that he has worked two rodeos at the same time. He said that most rodeos average three performances each.

Romer said that he enjoys entertaining people. Meeting new people is also a joy for Romer as he follows the clowning profession.

There is an art to clowning according to Romer. He said that moving is not the most important thing but know when to move is important. Most of the bulls that Romer works with weight between 1600 and 2000 pounds.

Romer is preparing to work the Texas Tech rodeo Oct. 31-Nov. 2.

You know, the worse inflation gets the more we need somebody like Briscoe. He's created a lot of good jobs and he knows how to get things started.

In times like these when the economy is so shaky, I'm going to stay with Governor Briscoe.

It's quite refreshing for me to know that we have a man like Dolph Briscoe... a man who puts integrity before all things...

Dolph Briscoe's proved he has the contacts and the know how to bring new business to the State of Texas. We can't afford to lose him at a critical time like this.

We need new jobs and more income in this state and Governor Briscoe is helping us get them.

Briscoe's kept pace without adding new taxes—I voted Republican in 1972, but I'm voting for Briscoe this time.

They all promised no new taxes; Dolph Briscoe kept his promise.

I think Dolph Briscoe is a Governor you can believe in. I'm looking forward to voting for him in November.

WT Sports In Brief

CROSS-COUNTRY: THE BIG TEST IN WICHITA

West Texas State's star freshman, Joseph Tiony, will lead a five-man Buffalo squad in the 19th Missouri Valley Conference cross-country championships in Wichita Saturday.

Host Wichita State will be a heavy favorite for its fourth straight title in the team standings, but the Shockers' Randy Smith could be pressed for his second crown by Tiony, WT's little rookie from Kenya.

Tiony (pronounce it tee-ON) holds the best time for the five-miles in the conference this year, a sparkling 24:05, but even WT Coach Bob Kitchens admits that Smith should be a heavy favorite in the meet over the Shockers' home course.

"There's nothing you can substitute for experience, and he (Smith) has just got it," Kitchens says. "He's a senior, he's run some tough races, and that just has to make a difference."

Joining Tiony as the Buff entrants will be Jim Burgess (27:35 best), Jay Jones (27:52), Bill Montgomery (29:34), and David Standifer (30:12), but Kitchens points out that all have recently run better four-mile times than the five-mile clockings might indicate.

With Tiony challenging for the individual title, West Texas should surely improve on its seventh place finish of last year, but Smith and Wichita State could make it a sweep.

TENNIS: SECOND TRY AT STILLWATER

West Texas State's netters will try to make up a four-point deficit to the host school when the Oklahoma State Invitational tennis meet resumes Sunday in Stillwater.

The final day of the meet originally scheduled for Oct. 11-12, was rained out and reset for Sunday. At the present time, the Buffs trail OSU 18-14 in the team standings with Kansas (11), Oklahoma City (10), Oral Roberts (7) and Central Oklahoma State (1) trailing.

Samuel Nunez and Brett Hall are the only WT players still in singles competition, but Coach David Kent has three doubles teams still alive.

Nunez has advanced in both. He'll meet OCU's Dennis Madden in singles action when play resumes, and he'll team with Steve Johnson to meet OCU's Dennis Morgan and Mark Mulaney.

Hall will take on Oklahoma State's Harry Drummond in the other singles event.

In doubles, Todd Reed and Wayne Marsh will play Drummond and Mike Collins of the Cowboys, and Bobby Kleinecke and Dana Caledonia meet Oklahoma State's Charles Laster and Brent Johnson.

West Texas' Johnson and Bill Marsh won the tournament a year ago when it featured a doubles competition only.

Following completion of the OSU meet, the Buffs will next be in competition during the Thanksgiving tournament in Amarillo Nov. 29-Dec. 1.

The FHA has begun a money making project and will be selling Current Stationery for the remainder of the week.

Race For District Title Give Eagles Toughest Foe Friday

The Canyon High Eagles will face the Perryton Rangers Friday night in what will be the toughest district game for the Eagles this year. Perryton is presently ranked number one in 3-A schools in the Panhandle.

The game, to be played at Frank Kimbrough Memorial Stadium, will begin at 7:30 p.m. Perryton, who won the district last year, is an almost completely senior ball club. They lost to Monahans last year in Bi-District competition.

According to Ron Mills, head coach for the Eagles, Perryton has the largest running backs that the Eagles will face this year. Perryton's fullback weighs in at 220 and one of the halfbacks weighs 200.

Seven offensive and ten defensive starters graduated in the spring which has led the Rangers to rebuild this year. The rebuilding has moved along at a rapid pace as the Rangers are now 5-2 for the season and 2-0 in district.

Chuck Bohner, senior running back, will continue to ground out the yardage for the Rangers this year.

The Rangers run a Denver City offense which has been effective this year. On defense, the Rangers use a 5-3 and 5-4 defense. Bo Rankin is a defensive standout for the Rangers.

For Canyon, the new people that Mills is trying out in the positions emptied by injuries still remain a question. The defensive line is smaller now than it has been all year. According to Mills the average line weight is 185

Forehand Day Friday

Kelly Forehand Day and Dad's night will be held Friday night at Frank Kimbrough Memorial Stadium at 7:30 p.m. as the Canyon Eagles tackle the Perryton Rangers.

In pre-game exercises, dads of 1974 Eagle Varsity players will be introduced as they are escorted onto the field. Friday, senior program prices will be doubled with proceeds from the sales going to the Forehand Fund.

Also at half time, buckets will be passed and fans will be asked to donate to the fund. During half time, the band will spell out Kelly as they perform on the field.

Forehand left Amarillo Tuesday to go to a rehabilitation center in Houston. Forehand will learn there how to use the ability that he presently has.

Forehand was injured in the Caprock-Canyon football game September 19 in Amarillo. Forehand was a senior student at Canyon High School prior to the accident that left him partially paralyzed.

'25 Graduates Celebrating Golden Year At Homecoming

The "Golden Graduates" of West Texas State University are expected in large numbers for the 1974 homecoming this weekend where the class will be the honored guests.

The class of 1925 will meet informally at 7 p.m. Friday, Nov. 1, in the home of Dr. Ruth Lowes at Canyon. Dr. Lowes, a member of the honor class, has made it her hobby to keep close tabs on the class members and regularly sends out newsletters to her fellow graduates who are among the "best we ever had" according to the late WTSU President, Dr. J. A. Hill.

The class members will have a formal reunion in Room 125 at the Activities Center beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday and free bus tours of the campus and showings of the film "The University of the Golden Spread" are on the agenda for the group.

An Anniversary Dinner for the Class of 1925 will be held Saturday night, Nov. 2, in the Green Room of the East Dining Hall with Dr. Lloyd I. Watkins, WT president, slated to report on "How We're Doin' Here." The dinner begins at 7 p.m.

The Class of 1925 originally had a roll of 58 and of that number, 20 are now known to be deceased with the whereabouts of another seven presently unknown. Of the remaining 31 class members, 18 have indicated they are planning to attend homecoming.

Numerous members of the 1925 graduating class have distinguished themselves since graduation in various fields and among those planning to attend the homecoming reunion are:

Roy Carver, a retired teacher of the Amarillo Public Schools, who has been active recently in conducting defensive driving schools.

Dr. and Mrs. Floyd D. Golden of Amarillo. Dr. Golden is former president of Eastern New Mexico University and currently heads Floyd D. Golden and Associates in Amarillo.

Olin E. Hinkle of Austin, a retired professor of journalism at the University of Texas.

Louise Simpson Joachim of Plainview, a retired Latin teacher in Plainview High School.

W. Mitchell Jones of Canyon, a retired professor of education and former Dean of Men at West Texas State University. He was a standout athlete at WT and later coached there. He is an inductee in the Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame.

Ruth Lowes of Canyon, a retired professor of education at WTSU.

Eppie Irons Rosser of Dallas, who along with her husband have retired from store ownership in Dallas.

Dr. Law Sone of Fort Worth, who was president of Texas Wesleyan College for 33 years, before he retired.

Winnie Faulkner Steele, former mathematics teacher in Alamogordo, N.M., now residing in Albuquerque.

Bruce Parker of Pampa, former Gray County Judge.

J. Evetts Haley of Canyon, who was president of the 1925 senior class, has indicated that pressing business matters outside the country will prevent him from attending the anniversary celebration. He has become the author of a number of books and papers dealing with the history of Texas and the Southwest since graduation and is now a rancher with extensive holdings inside and outside the Continental United States.

For history buffs it might be interesting to note that during the time the Class of '25 was attending West Texas State the following events were occurring:

"Bobbed hair for women came to campus and Huntleigh Hall, a rooming house for men, offered occupants electric lights, steam heat and free baths.

"The Ideal Cafe in Canyon offered a 21 meal ticket for $6.50 and Aunt Sue's column of advice in the college newspaper told coeds that a skirt was too short if it measured as much as 17 inches from the floor.

A new and exclusive organization known as the Bachelor's Protective Association came into being but it was short lived due to (as it was then reported) trouble with women."

Memories such as these and many other events, will be relived this weekend as the Class of 1925 returns to West Texas State for homecoming '74.

Baby's Here: Mildred Home

ON OCTOBER 12th and 13th the city of Houston had what they call "Main Street 74" presented by the Houston Chamber of Commerce, Mayor of Houston, Cultural Affairs Committee, in conjunction with the Houston Municipal Art Commission, with support from the Texas Commission on the Arts and Humanities and National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency.

J. T. Belva and I went on Saturday, mostly riding and seeing what and where it was all located. Then on Sunday after church we really took in a lot of it; but I guess we spent more time in the section where the paintings were.

There were some of the most outstanding artists of the U.S. as well as beginners and students.

One of the Houston High School's art class painted a huge colorful mural on the pavement on Bissonet St., just off Main. There were at least twelve well known participating galleries, a mile of hanging art, exhibitions, demonstrations and sales and over a hundred and twenty artists. I could have spent a couple of days admiring this alone. When Belva became tired, she and J. T. went on to sit and watch some of the entertainment and left me staring at the pictures.

There was music, dancing on the streets of every description, and one particular place called "Children's World Stage" which was so cute for the little people and the old ones with young hearts. Examples are "Sesame Street Puppet Show," "The Paper Bag," etc.

Urban crafts, pottery, baskets, jewelry made of just about everything, sculpture, metal art, yarn, macrame and needlepoint art, wood, acrylic, etching, glass, lapidary arts were a few of the many different kinds there.

I especially was thinking about all of you ladies in the Palisades would just go bananas if you had been here with me and I wished for you.

I'LL ROCK THE grandone a little and should be home this weekend. I've already said that. Come to see or call me then.

M.T. 622-0701
P.S. I hope this makes sense to you. I was sitting here visiting B. in the hospital while I was writing!

Army NCO Commended For Service

In a brief ceremony Tuesday, Lt. Col. John B. Luke, professor of military science at WTSU, presented the Army Commendation Medal, 1st Oak Leaf Cluster, to Staff Sgt. Howard F. Blevins for service rendered during November 27, 1971 to August 27, 1974 while assigned to HQ and HQ Company, 3rd Battalion, 33rd Armor, located in Kirchgoes, Germany.

Citing Sgt. Blevins' outstanding and meritorious service as supply sergeant, Sgt. Blevins' former commander commended him for his contribution to the unit's mission and the excellence with which he accomplished all assigned duties.

Recently assigned to the WT Department of Military Science, Sgt. Blevins arrived in Canyon in late September accompanied by his wife, Gracie, and three children. Originally from Virginia, Sgt. Blevins now claims El Paso as his permanent home.

His interest in young people influenced him to encourage the district to participate in the annual area one FFAL Land Judging and Range and Pasture Judging contests held at West Texas State University by presenting the first place winner in each contest a trophy.

The plaque presented to him by Bob McCasland read "Presented to Marshall Rockwell Jr. by the Palo Duro Soil and Water Conservation District in appreciation for Service on the Board as a Director for the years 1955-1974."

Robert F. Gruner has replaced Rockwell to represent zone four on the district board.

In the oral interpretation division, Melody Brown of Channing and Cloetta Bengie of Canyon were ranked superior through all four rounds.

Also competing at Texas Tech were Joe Sherrod of McLean, Luann Fulcher of Amarillo, Mike Koenig of Canyon and Garrell Forehand of Slaton.

The forensics team will travel to Colorado Springs for the Pikes Peak Invitational on October 25.

Guy P. Yates directed debate and public speaking events, while Dr. Zell SoRelle directed oral interpretation.

Grant Leads WT Prof. To New Course

West Texas State University English professor Dr. Gerald Craven is teaching the first course in the school's history that deals specifically with technical communication. The class is called English 491 — technical writing.

Dr. Craven joined the University faculty in 1970. He received his doctorate from Bowling Green in 1968. He and 10 other West Texas State faculty members were recipients of grants from the newly-created Faculty Venture Fund. Craven used his grant to study technical writing this summer at the University of Texas.

"It's a course in how to communicate facts effectively," says Craven. He emphasized that those facts must be communicated in a precise,

Rockwell Honored For Service

Marshall Rockwell was presented a plaque of appreciation for his service on the Palo Duro Soil and Water Conservation District Board by the present members of the Board at their regular monthly meeting recently.

Rockwell was instrumental in the organization of the district and served on the board of directors, representing zone four, since its organization in March, 1955 through August, 1974. He served the district in many capacities including chairman, the office he held when he left the board.

His interest in young people influenced him to encourage the district to participate in the annual area one FFAL Land Judging and Range and Pasture Judging contests held at West Texas State University by presenting the first place winner in each contest a trophy.

The plaque presented to him by Bob McCasland read "Presented to Marshall Rockwell Jr. by the Palo Duro Soil and Water Conservation District in appreciation for Service on the Board as a Director for the years 1955-1974."

Robert F. Gruner has replaced Rockwell to represent zone four on the district board.

Professor Conducts Study

A study on wheat protein being conducted by Dr. Ron Thomason at West Texas State University has already revealed some interesting results.

Now in his third year of research, the associate professor of plant science has not only developed a faster biuret process for determining wheat protein content, but has also gained insights as to its synthesis in hopes he can increase protein percentage in the future.

The overall objective of the research, Thomason noted, is the development of wheat varieties that are both higher in protein content and will produce greater yields.

"Protein is the most limiting factor of the diet in the world today," Thomason said.

"The idea was to find a line that has a high percent of two types of protein, instead of being high in only one type, such as the parent plants are," the scientist added. "However, it appears right now that most of the gain in protein percentage is not by adding different types, but by increasing the amounts of existing proteins."

Processes being studied are synthesis and translocation of protein, and its amino acid content, Thomason noted, "to find out where the proteins were made, when they are made and how they get into the seed."

By removing leaves of some of the plants we thought we would find where the proteins were made, but this did not prove true. We also tried harvesting at different stages of the cycle, but found that all but three proteins are already in the seed at seven days after flowering."

Next year Thomason plans to try radioactive labelling of nitrogen to determine the location of protein synthesis.

"Another step is to look at the amino acids in wheat, which is low in the essential amino acid lysine," Thomason said.

"Without these essential amino acids, people of the world that don't eat much meat die from protein malnutrition."

The biuret, a colorimetric method for determining protein content, has also been carefully refined by Thomason. Described by the scientist as "very good and inexpensive," his new refinements have reduced the time needed for processing from 30-45 minutes to 5-15 minutes.

"We needed to check proteins at a much faster rate than before, because in a breeding program on protein we are going to have to look at many different lines to find the one we want, as protein content is influenced so much by the environment and many different genes. We are interested in increasing it from a genetic standpoint," Thomason said.

"We may someday get paid a premium for high protein wheat, and with the biuret the local marketing centers can make use of the method because it is inexpensive," he said. Now in their third generation of seeds, "The program may take as long as ten more years to complete," he concluded.

Dr. Thomason came to WTSU in 1969 from the University of Missouri. A 1962 graduate of WTSU, he received his doctorate in 1966 from Colorado State University. Dr. Thomason has published a paper on "Wheat Protein and Enzyme Research" in 1971 in the "Wheat Newsletter."

Sermon Cut Short By "Rains"

By MARY NEAL HENRY
REMEMBER THAT OLD saying "Welcome as a rain." Well, I don't use that anymore these days. Yes, it rained again on Sunday. Brother Paul even shortened his sermon because people were becoming so upset. Just us that live off the pavement. Reminds me, this road out here surely needs dragging right away. Randall County, please!

ON TUESDAY MORN-
NING of Texas Cattle Feeders, President Glenn Deen introduced me and presented to me a Texas Cattle Feeders plaque engraved "In Appreciation For Outstanding Service in Promoting Beef, Mary Neal Henry, President, CowBelles, From Texas Cattle Feeders Association, 1974." I was most pleased and quite humble.

The gold CowBelle pin that I now wear is mine. It is a duplicate of the traveling pin worn by the president except it has a third gold bar engraved with the year of service. The next few months will be spent tying all the loose ends and completing the year's work.

CAMMA LOU AND Larry Tackitt were visiting last week and week end in Guadalupe, Old Mexico. They were guests of a family who had purchased pigs from them. Mrs. Winnie Tackitt stayed in Happy with Lonnie and Mark.

DOUG SIMS WON the Punt, Pass and Kick contest for thirteen year olds in the District contest in Oklahoma City. He will be custom fitted with a NFL uniform and compete during the half-time of the Dallas Cowboys and San Francisco's 49er's game on Sunday, Nov. 10.

These contestants will be honored with a banquet the night before the game and will get to meet the Cowboys.

We surely hope that Doug makes it all the way to the Super Bowl. By the way, he'll be on television Nov. 10.

WE WERE GUESTS of the Amarillo Unit of the National Parliamentarians Association on Monday evening at the Flame Room at the Pioneer Natural Gas Building. Dinner was served at 6:30 followed by the business meeting and program, "Processes of Procedures."

Maurine Allison is an active member of the Amarillo group. Clemi Blackburn was the only other guest that I knew. Clemi is the Area Vice President for Texas Jaycee-ettes, and wife of Bill Blackburn, a former Happy resident. President Maurine Travis and Registered Parliamentarian Hazel Crawley were most interesting people and excellent speakers.

Two other very interesting people that I was privileged to meet during the evening were Frances Streubell, mother of Judge Mary Lou Robinson, and Pawnee Gaither, wife of the late Sheriff Paul Gaither. My mother has owned the Gaither residence in Amarillo ever since they sold it in the 1950's. It is a beautiful old house — almost downtown now.

KIM FOSTER RECENTLY celebrated her birthday with a slumberless party. Angelique Henry, Tammy Williams, and Teresa Luker helped her celebrate and eat that ice cream and chocolate cake.

In one week, three happy little Happy girls celebrated birthdays — one every day. Teresa Luker held a birthday party after school in her home and invited several of her friends. Teresa was 10.

Melissa Harvey, also 10, celebrated her birthday party in her home after school. Several friends attended.

Vicki Todd, nine years old, invited several friends to her home on a Thursday afternoon to celebrate her birthday. By Friday afternoon, Angelique was exhausted. She laid down on the divan and slept from the time she got in from school until supper time.

JIM WHITLOW AND Gary Barrett attended a Jaycee workshop in Muleshoe on Saturday evening.

DICK AND DOTTY Foster entertained with a pig roasting on Saturday evening in their home. Enjoying the occasion were Lloyd and Susan Rahlfs and Little Lloyd; Art and Carol Foster and their Trisha and Monty; Terry Foster of Dallas; Lida Rhea Grubb; Lloyd and Della Venhaus and their Danny and Donny; Judy and Gene Shipman and their Mandi and Raphe; Eugene and LaVenna Jackson and their Genora; Norman and Joy Freeman and their Corrin, Shay and Joe; Vincent and Kay Venhaus and their Vincent Ray, Connie, Carrie and Vickie; Ann and Larry Payne and two friends from Amarillo; C. R. Wesley and Mack McKinney.

IDA AND LAVERN Gaylord and their Dixie (Dotty Foster's sister and family) visited Sunday and Monday with the Dick Foster family.

HAPPY JAYCEE-ETTES MET on Tuesday evening to complete plans for their Holiday Tasting Tea and the Halloween party for their children. They are also gathering nice clothing and necessities for Girlstown, U.S.A.

THE 4-H DECISION Making Contest will be at 2:30 p.m. on Nov. 9th at the Happy School cafeteria. Five counties will participate.

FLAME KING AND Queen will be crowned tonight at the bonfire . . . weather permitting. Too much moisture prevented the high school students from holding their annual Homecoming Bonfire. Lazbuddie will be the Happy Cowboys' opponents tomorrow evening at the Happy Cowboy Stadium.

MY SYMPATHY TO the family of Les Curb who died recently in Abilene. I was saddened to learn of Les Curb's sudden death not only because they are former Happy residents and long time friends of the family but because my scrap book contains a letter of congratulations from Les. He had clipped my picture from the Abilene paper when I was elected President of Texas CowBelles and sent it to me with a letter of congratulations. I was thrilled that someone would take the time and now, before the year is even over, the bearer of those congratulations is no longer with us. We seldom stop to contemplate the value of the "little things" in life. Les' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Curb, former Happy residents, are residents of Canyon.

MY SYMPATHY, TOO, to the family of Mrs. J. H. (Ona) Stephenson. The Stephenson family was a pioneer family of Happy. Stephenson Memorial Park is named for them. I believe was donated to Happy by them. Mrs. Stephenson was a 50-year member of the Happy Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star. She was a kind, generous person, one who will be missed by this community. Two daughters survive, Mrs. Odie (Frances) Hudson, who lives West of Happy, and Mrs. Clyde Spear of Amarillo.

KENNETH WEAVERS IS home from the hospital and recuperating from his congestion.

Melvin Schaeffer is still in St. Anthony's Hospital after heart surgery.

Copus Boyd is in St. Anthony's Hospital following heart surgery on Wednesday last week.

Mrs. Edith Fields has been in High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo.

Sherman Cox returned home from the hospital last Saturday.

REMEMBER TO VOTE next week. It is your duty to get up off your apathy, find out for yourself what a candidate stands for and opposes and vote for the person who is best qualified to fill the office.

When one candidate criticizes another or ridicules another, that candidate is not qualifying himself or herself to fill that position, whether the statements be true or slanderous.

In some offices, we need the man FOR agriculture. It is an absolute necessity. Agriculture is the basis of American economy, the very foundation of America's strength. Please vote the man who favors agriculture.

PHYLLIS BRADLEY OF Gruver spent Sunday evening with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lemmons of Happy. We spent Monday afternoon together in Amarillo shopping. Phyllis will be attending a Banker's Convention in Lubbock this week end.

REMEMBER, EAT MORE Beef! Give beef jerky for Halloween treats. And happy Trick or Treating!

See ya!

Lady Mechanics Finish Course

(Editor's Note: The following is a brief feature written for The News by Leonard Kent, a Canyon teacher who is also involved in a WTSU internship course studying to become a school administrator.)

By LEONARD KENT
Did you ever wonder how many ladies in our community could take battery booster cables and start their own cars or perhaps change a tire?

Perhaps there are many unknown "Powder Puff Auto Mechanics" in our community, but Mickey Hathaway, auto mechanics teacher at Canyon High School, knows ten young ladies who can do much more for a car than change the tire or booster a fast start.

Canyon Independent School District made available on Sept. 12 a new community education course "Powder Puff Auto Mechanics" for all interested ladies who wished to learn a little more about the automobile. The 12-hour community education night course, according to Hathaway, was designed to help the lady who has an emergency and doesn't have a man to help at that moment. Topics covered were engine operation, brakes, electrical system, and cooling system, plus explanations of what happens when you turn the key.

This course probably won't make the lady an expert mechanic, but those who participated in the program joyfully agreed that they have new insights about the automobile and "It's nice to get out of the kitchen," as one class member stated.

Our new community "Powder Puff Mechanics" are Bilinda Bingham, Jill Ellinwood, Kandy Cartrell, Elaine Wiginton, Teresa Davis, Mary Carroll, Karen Moldenhauer, Nora Luna, Ellen Livesay and Janet Anstey.

CHS Auto Mechanics Instructor Mickey Hathaway explains the cooling system of a car to Powder Puff mechanics Jill Ellinwood and Ellen Livesay during a recent evening session.

WT Teacher Center Gets $27,000 Grant

The West Texas Teacher Center has received a $27,000 grant for "The Humanistic Approach Project" from the Texas Center for the Improvement of Education Systems.

The project will be a joint effort of West Texas State University, College of Education, Region 16 Educational Service Center and the Hereford Public Schools.

Project director is Dr. Jim Kidd, dean of the WTSU College of Education, Jack Edmondson of the Region 16 PESO Educational Service Center, is teacher Center Progress Monitor.

WTSU Elementary Education Department Head Dan White will act as pre-service counselor working with college-level students, and PESO's David Cole is the in-service counselor working with selected Hereford teachers, Jim Holmes is coordinating the efforts of the Hereford schools in the project.

This pilot project is to test the viability of select special experiences "to improve the performance of teachers in preparation and those in-service by encouraging self-determination and individual responsibility for self choice," Kidd says.

Involved in the project will be 20 Hereford teachers and 30 WTSU students.

"The basic purposes of the program are to design a systematic implementation model embodying self-determination, to field test the model, and, if successful, incorporate this in the CBTE program at WTSU," Kidd notes.

Although the grant has just come through, the WTSU college has been working on the project since Sept. 1. Kidd describes a special session already run as "a retreat in which a consultant came in with a special series of activities and experiences designed to assist teachers and students in clarifying their beliefs concerning the teachers and learning process."

The project will run one year.
